Can I use Microsoft Access with MySQL?

It is possible to integrate MySQL and Microsoft Access in a static, non real-time way. MyODBC is a Windows program that allows you to either upload from Access to your MySQL database or download from MySQL into your Access database.

More information on how this works can be found at phphelp.com - Using MyODBC. (http://www.phphelp.com/article/article.php?art=4&page=1)

For this to work properly, you will need to tell us that you wish to use this software, and which IP numbers you are connecting from.
