LexiConn Knowledgebase

Can a pointed domain resolve to a single webpage

There are two ways to achieve this result: 1. A pointed domain could be set up to resolve to a specific page in your primay domain's directory. In this case, your new domain will resolve to the page you specify, but the URL will match your primary domain name.
2. A pointed domain could be set up to resolve to the default index.html file within its own directory.

https://support.lexiconn.com/kb/questions/220/