ASP is not supported

ASP or active server pages is a programming language developed by Microsoft and usually available on Windows-based servers running IIS. ASP pages will generally end in an .asp or .aspx file extension.

Since LexiConn offers hosting services on Linux-based servers only we are unable to support active server pages on our servers.

If your web applications require that you utilize ASP, you will need to find a Windows hosting provider.

https://support.lexiconn.com/kb/questions/226/